We the People: The Citizen and the Constitution provides upper elementary, middle, and high school students with a course of instruction on the history and principles of the United States constitutional democracy. Simulated congressional hearings, critical thinking exercises, problem-solving activities, and cooperative-learning opportunities help develop intellectual and participatory skills while increasing students' understanding of government institutions and fostering attitudes that students need to participate as effective, responsible citizens. Each textbook is supported by online student and teacher resource centers and program coordinators in every state.

Pricing List

Project Citizen challenges students to work together to identify public policy solutions to community problems. They identify and research a significant problem, examine alternative solutions, and recommend their own solution in the form of a public policy proposal. Students display their research and public policy proposals through digital or in-person showcases. A national showcase offers classes the opportunity to share their work with a national audience.
